Good morning Michelle,

A recommendation from the BLIP Raster Technical, Cost, Schedule, and Management review was to "Complete the USID process for high-level SAD and/or ASE impacts for maximum possible isotope production level, gas emissions and waste water discharge requirements". This recommendation had a due date of November 30th; but activities at the NSLS II project have consumed the time of several key C-AD ESSHQ personnel and delayed the USID process. The USI determination has now been finalized, with DOE Site Office concurrence, and is attached.

Kerry
